LINK'S PLANS UNFOLD HIS BOOM IS LAUNCHED

Several Leading Democrats Now Favor Him

"I consider that L. L. McCandless is the only logical candidate for the position of governor in the field here," said E. A. McHenry this afternoon.
"He has brought the Democratic party in Hawaii up from next to nothing to the commanding position which it now holds."
"Mr. McCandless is an American citizen born and bred, which cannot be said of any other person whose name has been mentioned in connection with the governorship."
"No qualifications of anyone else in the field are superior to his."
"We want an aggressive man and a progressive man," Mr. McCandless is a man of independent means, wealth, and all his interests and the interests of his family are here."
"We want a man that is in no way identified with the trusts of any kind—a man that has the interests of the general public, and particularly of the native Hawaiians at heart."
"And above all we want a man that cannot be influenced nor led by any backdoor strings."
HONOR W. SMITH.

George W. Smith, when asked if he had been approached for his opinion on the gubernatorial campaign, said that he had not. He said that he would like to see Mr. McCandless secure the position in preference to other men of his party whose names have been mentioned.
"He deserves nothing less from the Democratic party for his work," he believed that he would make a good governor.
L. L. McCandless, defeated on Tuesday for delegate to Congress, has begun another campaign, this time among members of his own party mostly. His campaign for the governorship is on.
The Star-Bulletin last Saturday mentioned the report that an application for the governorship on behalf of Mr. McCandless had gone forward and would be taken up by Mr. Wilson in the event that he was elected.

ONE HOUSE MEMBER, KANIHO, TO MAKE INTERPRETER NECESSARY

"Cannon-ball of Kohala" Slow When Comes to English Language

H. M. Kaniho, the "Cannon ball of Kohala," who has been elected a member of the House of Representatives from Oahu, will insist on having a Hawaiian interpreter appointed for the House.
Kaniho yesterday stated most emphatically that he would ask the Speaker of the House to have an official Hawaiian interpreter appointed for the benefit of those, including himself, who do not speak and write the English language to much advantage.
"I will certainly ask that a Hawaiian interpreter be appointed for the House of Representatives, to which body I have been elected as one of its members," said Kaniho yesterday, as he received the congratulations of his admiring friends.
Kaniho is said to be the only member of the new House who does not understand the English language. The other Hawaiian members of the House understand English, though U. K. Kaupolu, of Hawaii, is said to know it very little.

IS WILLING TO ACCEPT OFFICIAL BALM FOR HURT

L. L. McCandless

The event that he was elected president, McCandless says that if such an application has been made, it is without his knowledge, but developments yesterday and today show that he is now an active candidate for the gubernatorial position.
Democratic workers are already busily employed in campaigning for McCandless, and some of the prominent party men are known to be helping his young household grow into an adult home.
One of the Democrats elected to the House in preference to the statement that McCandless has gone so far as to say that the endorsement of a man for governor should be put up to each of the Democratic precinct clubs in the territory for a vote, and that the Democratic committee should also be called upon for an expression.
McCandless would probably be the choice were the endorsement to be left to the precinct clubs, and he and his friends control the central committee also. M. C. Pacheco, chairman of the committee, has been a McCandless supporter and Johnny Wilson, the national committeeman, owes his place to McCandless's efforts during the convention last spring. The officials heads of the party are thus believed to be lined up in such a way that they would at least not oppose McCandless.
Gilbert J. Waller, Dr. J. H. Raymond, Judge A. A. Wilder and others have been prominently mentioned for the governorship, but none of these has a household of anything like the proportions that is rapidly getting underway for McCandless.

THEY GET CONSOLATION EVEN IN DEFEAT

George P. Renton, ex-Republican candidate for senator was a caller in the Republican headquarters this morning. As usual, he walked in broadly smiling and shook hands with the ex-runners of the Republican party.
"Asked why he smiled, he said, 'What's the use of worrying after defeat.'"
Yesterday morning, A. S. Kalepou another senatorial candidate, who went down to defeat, visited the once busy headquarters of the Republican party. Naturally, he was disappointed because of his downfall on election day, but added, however, that the only consolation he had was that almost the entire ticket has gone down to defeat. He added that the "pot-banana-mosquito business" killed the Republican candidates this time.
In a pre-nuptial contract, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and Mrs. Margaret Emerson McKim, made provision for settlements in the event of a future divorce.
It is reported that the Russian Admiral Chagin who recently committed suicide did so because a plot against the czar and the Czarovich of which he was the instigator, was discovered by the police. Chagin had been the czar's favorite.

ARMY MAN IS FREED FROM DEATH GUILT

Man Who Killed Akterski at Schofield Barracks Is Finally Cleared

COURT-MARTIAL FINDINGS UPHELD BY GEN. MURRAY

Shown That Cook McGrady Was Unwitting Cause of Fatal Accident

The final act in a tragedy which more than five months ago shook Schofield Barracks to the foundation, has just closed, with the approval of the court martial findings acquitting Cook Robert E. McGrady of the killing of Private Morris Akterski. From the Western Division comes the order bearing Major General Murray's endorsement of the "not guilty" verdict of the court, and McGrady is again an absolutely free man.
McGrady was the unwitting cause of the death of one of his best friends, young Akterski, of the battery, First Field Artillery. On the night of May 25 last, the pair were lurking in the kitchen, and McGrady was trying to leave Akterski with a short rope. The latter cried quite, and when McGrady kept on, heaved a plate at him and made a dash through the door.
"I'll give him a scare," said McGrady, and picking up a long kitchen knife he gave pursuit. In the darkness, McGrady couldn't see where he was going, and the first thing he knew Akterski rushed into collision and immediately cried out that he was stabbed. He staggered back to the kitchen, where it was seen at once that he was seriously hurt. Soon after being taken to the post hospital he died.
At the conclusion of both the investigation and the court martial which followed, showed that the whole tragedy was the result of some too rough horseplay, and McGrady, crushed and broken with grief, was found not guilty of manslaughter.
The endorsement of the reviewing authority now relieves him of the last portion of military and civil responsibility.

MAUI PRECINCT RETURNS SHOW REPUBLICAN VICTORY

The Star-Bulletin received today the first detailed returns from the Maui election from its correspondent at Wailuku. The returns are not quite complete, but the results will not be changed by the official count, which is now in progress.

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) Election Is Quiet

WAILUKU, Maui, Nov. 7.—It was a pretty quiet election day. The weather was perfect, and by noon the voters had pretty well cast their ballots in most of the polling places. Knapo was the first precinct to make returns, and Nahluku came in second. By 10

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY STARTS RUMORS OF MANY CHANGES

Possibilities for appointment to office under the expected new deal in Federal and local positions are thus far more talked about than talking for themselves. Mr. Waller for governor is really the only one that has admitted willingness to take the position for which he is mentioned, although Mr. McCandless only reserves the condition of party selection as the one that will determine his candidacy for the governorship.
Various names for offices are heard on the street which have never been considered by leaders of the Democratic party, and some which have not been suggested by the persons themselves although these in some cases may not be disposed to deny the soft impeachment. In the former category is the name of Dr. J. H. Raymond for Governor, which several of the party leaders seen this morning had not heard mentioned. They say that he had a difference with the party two years ago, after which he went to Europe and only lately returned.
"The only man who has avowed his candidacy for the governorship," said one of the leading hustlers in the late campaign, "is Mr. Waller. Link McCandless has not yet made a statement. Before E. M. Watson was taken ill he was the man talked of, but the condition of his health now probably puts him out of the running. Judiciary May Not Change.

New Armory, Long Delayed, Will Be A Reality Soon

The contract for the construction of the $150,000 National guard armory probably will be let during the first two weeks of December. At a conference yesterday between Governor Frear, Adjutant-General John W. Jones of the National Guard, and H. K. Bishop, superintendent of public works, the plans for this structure, as far as they have been completed by the architect, were approved and the architect instructed to finish them as outlined.
This means that about three weeks more will be required to finish the plans and specifications, after which bids will be called for and actual work will begin at the earliest possible moment.

HELPED HIS STATE AND HIMSELF BACK TO OFFICE

Gov. Foss of Massachusetts was re-elected by a plurality close to 100,000, according to reports, and his work was instrumental in keeping the Bay State in the Democratic column. Charles S. Bird, the Bull Moose candidate, never had a chance.

ROOSEVELT IS AHEAD, BUT ONLY BY 511

(Associated Press Cable)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., November 8.—Roosevelt appears to have carried the state of California by the exceedingly narrow margin of 511, but 100 precincts are still missing and the result may be changed. A recount is probable.

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., November 8.—Rudolph Sprengle and James P. Han have authorized the Democratic state central committee to offer $5000 reward to anyone furnishing evidence to convict any person of election frauds. The committee has served notice that it will contest the count if any evidence of fraud is found.

BOISE, Idaho, November 8.—How this state has gone is still doubtful. It will require an official canvass to decide it.

KENT MAY BE GOOD FRIEND

That many months may elapse, after the new president's inauguration, before a successor, if any, is appointed to Governor Frear, and that Woodrow Wilson will have most excellent advice on Hawaiian affairs from a man on whom both he and the territory can rely, is the opinion expressed today by a local man thoroughly acquainted with mainland political affairs.
This man who is expected to prove a friend to Hawaii is Professor Charles William Kent, head of the department of English literature of the University of Virginia, who was Wilson's roommate during his college days and is declared to be one of the president's intimate friends.
Prof. Kent visited Hawaii only a short time ago, leaving Honolulu about a month ago for his home in the east. During his stay he took a keen interest in Hawaiian affairs, was entertained by the college men of the islands, and spoke at a dinner given in his honor at the University Club. He was declared one of the ablest speakers ever heard here, and there are those who would not be surprised if he were appointed a member of the Democratic cabinet.

Already, it is argued, Woodrow Wilson has given an intimation the method he will employ in handling his executive affairs, and that indicates he will not take up the affairs of this Territory seriously for a considerable length of time. His recent statement to the press, in declining to make a certain announcement, that he "is not a hair trigger," combined with the fact that he is a college bred man, inclined to weigh carefully all sides of a question before making a final decision, can be taken as an indication that the old political cry "to the victor belongs the spoils," will not bear weight with him, save in places where change is necessary in the fulfillment of his governmental ideas.

It is thought now since Governor Frear also is a college bred man, and undoubtedly will be endorsed by the recommendation which Secretary of the Interior Fisher will make to President Taft, and quite possibly also by Prof. Kent, the new president may demand some very strong proof of necessity for a change. Wilson's fight in New Jersey, also seems to point to an inclination on his part to consider conditions first, men afterward, and that the man who does get the governorship appointment in Hawaii will be that person who discusses conditions chiefly, making his own candidacy an incidental matter of secondary importance.

Besides all these arguments comes the very practical view of the situation confronting Wilson. There will be such a multiplicity of affairs to occupy his attention that Hawaii is likely to be one of the last matters to receive notice, and definite action for that Governor Frear may send in his layed.
There is a possibility, of course, that Governor Frear may send in his resignation, if he is appointed again by Taft, but that will not relieve him of his duty, and if the new Chief Executive sees fit to hold him in office indefinitely he may do so, by merely neglecting to appoint a successor.
In fact it is regarded as a strong likelihood that Governor Frear, who already has held office a year beyond the expiration of his term, may continue for many months, probably even a year longer, so direct the affairs of the Territory. And it is even hinted that he may be reappointed by Wilson. Whether he would accept is an entirely different question.

PESTILENCE IS RAGING TURKS ARE HARD HIT

(Associated Press Cable)
VIENNA, Austria, November 8.—It is reported here that terrible outbreaks of typhoid fever at Adrianople and of cholera at Thessalonika have broken out among the Turkish garrisons and inhabitants. The towns at Adrianople are without doctors. The garrison amounts to 30,000 men, and the fever is reported to be taking a fearful toll of life.

(Associated Press Cable)
SALONIKI, Turkey, November 8.—It is understood that informal direct negotiations for peace are proceeding between the Turks and the Balkan Allies. The Turks are ready to yield on almost any terms. Stalled by every important battle, with their armies demoralized by losses and now by pestilence, they are in no position to make a determined stand on peace terms.

NEED INCREASES FOR ARMY DIVISION IN THIS TERRITORY

Hardly a day goes by without bringing before army authorities an added reason for giving Hawaii the "Independent" and raising the number of troops to division rank. The latest instance of the difficulties of maintaining the troops of Oahu from San Francisco, in the approval of a scheduled barracks court martial finding of last May, which acquitted Private Edward H. Smith, Troop B, Fifth Cavalry, of assault and battery with intent to kill, on the person of Private John Laik, of the same troop.
When the court rendered a verdict of "not guilty" Smith was released from arrest, and the papers forwarded to division headquarters. Months went by, and finally, early in October, Smith's enlistment was up. By all rights of equity he should have been allowed to leave the army, but the finding of the court had not yet been approved, so Smith had to be retained in the service a full month over his time.
If Hawaii was a division by itself, the whole matter could have been disposed of in a week at the outside.

On November 15 the officers of the newly organized Quartermaster Corps will begin conducting the business of their department under one roof. On that date Captain D. B. Case, formerly depot commissary, and Captain E. H. Cooke, formerly army paymaster, will give up their respective offices and open their desks in the office of the chief quartermaster, Hotel and Miller streets. The quartermaster, supply and pay departments were merged November 1, but Major B. Frank Cheatham, chief quartermaster, decided not to actually bring the offices together until the 15th. The present commissary storehouse will be maintained.
"The entire idea of consolidation is economy and efficiency," said Major Cheatham this morning. "Everything is to be centralized, and I'm sure that the new system will work out well if given a fair trial. Right here in Hawaii it has already been found that every seeming obstacle can be easily surmounted."
Circular No. 1, Quartermaster Corps, the first publication since consolidation, has been received here.

MORE RETURNS ON DELEGATE CAME TODAY

An idea of the way the vote on Delegate ran on the islands of Hawaii and Maui can be gained from the following figures, taken from the official returns received yesterday.
The remaining returns from the precincts as yet unheard from officially, are expected to arrive by boat tomorrow morning, completing the official ballot and enabling the Secretary to prepare the figures showing the actual number of votes received by the various candidates. The returns at present are as follows:
